STANLEY'S BAR & GRILL

Sunday Best

Built in 1911, Stanley Park Pavilion was the place to be seen among Vancouver locals. Dressed in their Sunday best, families would gather on the Pavilion lawn, socialize with friends and watch performances at the popular bandstand, the Malkin Bowl.

Vancouver's First Rock Garden

In 1911, Scottish born John Montgomery began laying out the Stanley Park rock garden using boulders and rocks left over from the construction of the Stanley Park Pavilion. The rock garden would eventually span almost a mile in length as it wound its way from Stanley Park's entrance up to and beyond the Pavilion.
